Project Description	World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF), with the programme of Eco-Corridors Fund aimed at conserving biodiversity, is working with local communities in the southern Caucasus, to implement an extensive project for the conservation and sustainable use of ecosystems and natural resources. The Republic of Slovenia supported part of the project on the conservation and sustainable use of landscapes implemented in the municipality of Adigeni. Based on the analyses performed, a multifunctional forest management plan was prepared, and modern equipment for work in forests and pastures was procured. There was training provided on forest management planning, safe work in forests, nature conservation and value chain development. The purpose of the project is the preservation and sustainable use of the forest landscape and indirectly reduction of emigration from the region.
Project Phase	The project is concluded.
